

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE | OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL

INVESTIGATIVE SUMMARY | 25-066

Findings of Misconduct by a then-Federal Bureau of Investigation Supervisory Special Agent for Solicitation and Use of Prostitutes While on FBI Assignment Overseas and Traveling Domestically, Failure to Self-Report Close or Continuous Contacts with Foreign Nationals, and Related Misconduct

The Department of Justice (DOJ) Office of the Inspector General (OIG) initiated an investigation after receiving information from the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) alleging that, while working for the FBI overseas and traveling for work domestically, a then-FBI Supervisory Special Agent (SSA) solicited and used prostitutes. It was also alleged that the then-SSA used an FBI-issued mobile device to conduct the transactions related to the solicitation of prostitutes and failed to self-report close or continuous contact with a foreign national the then-SSA was dating while overseas. During its investigation, the OIG found indications that the then-SSA had failed to self-report close or continuous contacts with the foreign national prostitutes.

The OIG investigation substantiated the allegations that the then-SSA had solicited and used prostitutes on numerous occasions while on FBI assignment overseas and traveling domestically and misused an FBI-issued mobile device to conduct the transactions related to the solicitation, in violation of DOJ and FBI policies. The OIG investigation further found the then-SSA failed to self-report close or continuous contact with a foreign national the then-SSA was dating overseas and with the foreign nationals whom the then-SSA paid for sex, in violation of FBI policy.

Criminal prosecution was declined.

The OIG has completed its investigation and provided its report to the FBI for its information.

Unless otherwise noted, the OIG applies the preponderance of the evidence standard in determining whether DOJ personnel have committed misconduct.
