Subject:
Analysis of U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) Survey of Employees,
Report No. 21-01

Our office conducted a two-part survey from August 14-24, 2020. The objective of the survey was to provide GPO leadership with valuable feedback on how COVID-19 impacted each employee. The specific objectives were as follows:

- Part 1. Operations and safety protocols during the pandemic. To inform GPO leadership on how employees felt about their safety working in the GPO workplace during COVID-19.
- Part 2. GPO's approach to working from home during COVID-19. To inform GPO leadership about employee sentiment regarding the Information Technology (IT) support, communications, and other aspects related to their effectiveness while under maximum telework.

SUMMARY

Overall, GPO employees were satisfied with the Director's communication in keeping them informed during COVID-19. However, the survey results suggest GPO supervisors should reinforce when and why it is necessary to be onsite, to include what tasks actually require employees to be physically present at GPO facilities.

When asked if GPO employees felt safe working onsite, there was a statistically significant portion of them (30 percent) that did not. However, employees were mostly satisfied with the safety protocols that GPO implemented. We assess that the sentiment is reasonably due to factors outside of GPO's control.

Employees were satisfied with the technical telework resources that GPO provided. Employees also stated that they were satisfied with the level and frequency of interaction with their supervisors during maximum telework operations. We offer more detailed analysis below and end with comments and considerations for GPO leadership.
ABOUT THE SURVEY

The survey was made available to all 1600+ GPO employees. We received 403 responses (25 percent response rate), a statistically significant sample with the following margin of error and confidence interval:

- Margin of error, ± 4 for each question
- 95 percent confidence level (represents how often the true percentage of the population who would pick an answer)\(^1\)

GPO employees of all grade levels took the survey. Figure 1 shows the breakout of the 391 respondents who answered the pay scale and grade question.

2 Per OPM guidance, pay scales are identified as follows: SES is designated for Senior Executive positions, PG is designated for Printing Office grades, and WG is designated for craft, trade, and labor positions.
GPO had respondents from each Business Unit (BU). Figure 2 illustrates the top eight participating BUs who made up 79 percent of the total responses.

ANALYSIS and HIGHLIGHTS

Part 1. Operations and safety protocols during the pandemic.

GPO supervisors and non-supervisors were asked a series of questions related to how safe they felt about working onsite during COVID-19, including questions regarding communications about the pandemic.

Employees think the GPO Director has done an excellent job keeping them informed during COVID-19.

How satisfied are you with GPO’s remote communication during the maximum telework COVID-19 operating status? (Survey Q.33)

Out of 348 respondents, 322 (93 percent) were either satisfied or very satisfied with the Director’s communication. The Director sends messages to GPO employees at least once per week and is very candid with the information he delivers. The bottom line is that GPO employees think the Director has done an excellent job keeping them informed during COVID-19. Response details are presented in figure 3.
GPO supervisors need to reinforce when and why it is necessary for GPO employees to work onsite.

I know which of my work tasks require me to be physically present at a GPO worksite? (Survey Q.35)

Over one quarter of the 363 respondents (28 percent) did not know which work tasks required their physical presence at a GPO worksite.

If you had to go into a GPO worksite, was it necessary to be physically present? (Survey Q.38)

Twenty-five percent of the 193 respondents stated that they did not need to be physically present or were unsure if they needed to be physically present when onsite.

There were a statistically significant portion of GPO employees that did not feel safe working onsite.

Please indicate how you feel about the following statement: I feel safe working at the GPO workplace. (Survey Q. 30)

Out of 295 respondents, 30 percent either disagreed or strongly disagreed that they felt safe working onsite at GPO. Respondents had the opportunity to provide specific concerns and comments. We reviewed 163 comments and highlight the following response trends:

- In 47 percent of the comments, employees simply felt safer working from home.
In 27 percent of the comments, employees felt safe as long as the GPO instituted safety protocols were followed (e.g., mandatory mask use, social distancing, and temperature checks).

Several comments noted that rotating shifts could minimize the use of public transportation thus further alleviating employee fears.

Employees were mostly satisfied with the safety protocols that GPO implemented.

How satisfied are you with the COVID-19 safety protocols that GPO has instituted, such as requiring masks, temperature checks, social distancing, etc.? (Survey Q.32)

Eighty percent of the 288 respondents stated that they were either satisfied or very satisfied with the safety protocols GPO had instituted, such as requiring masks, temperature checks, and social distancing. Just five percent were either dissatisfied or very dissatisfied.

This question also allowed respondents to provide specific comments or concerns. Of the 96 comments received, we highlight the following:

- 22 percent of the comments indicated that the current safety protocols need improvement and/or more enforcement, such as increased access to gloves, more sanitizing stations, and more N95 masks.
- 58 percent of the comments indicated that employees were satisfied with the current safety protocols.

If you had to go into a GPO worksite, were hand sanitizers conveniently located and in working condition? (Survey Q.41)

Of 166 respondents, 14 percent indicated that hand sanitizers were not conveniently located or were not in serviceable condition.

Part 2. GPO’s approach to working from home during COVID-19.

GPO supervisors and non-supervisors were asked a series of questions related to their telework experience.

Telework employees were satisfied with the technical resources GPO provided.

What technologies do your employees need access to so they can effectively do their jobs remotely/when teleworking? (Survey Q.14)

- 61 percent of supervisors stated that their number one priority was for their employees to have a government issued laptop with high speed internet access to the GPO network.
• 16 percent of supervisors stated that they would like to use their home printers for GPO business.\(^3\)
• 13 percent of supervisors stated that they need a GPO issued iPhone.

How would you rate your satisfaction with the technical resources provided to you by GPO during the pandemic, such as the VPN, IT Support, and Computer Applications? (Survey Q.13 & Q.20)

Ninety-one percent of respondents were either very satisfied or satisfied with the technical telework resources GPO provided. We received a total of 321 responses, 67 from supervisors and 254 from non-supervisors. The results from each group were almost identical and can be found, combined, in Figure 4.

Employees were satisfied with the level of supervisor interaction.

How would you rate your satisfaction with how often you interact with your staff? (Survey Q.17)

Ninety-one percent of supervisors indicated that they interacted with their employees daily. Of note, only 59 percent of employees said that they interacted with their supervisor daily. Despite the apparent discrepancy in daily interaction, both supervisors and employees seemed generally satisfied with the frequency of their interactions as 90 percent of respondents were either very satisfied (70 percent) or satisfied (20 percent).\(^4\)

---

\(^3\) Per GPO’s Chief Information Security Officer, there is no capability for connecting a home printer to a GPO workstation.

\(^4\) Survey questions did not distinguish between immediate or second-line supervisors.
CONSIDERATIONS

Employees were generally satisfied with GPO’s handling of the COVID-19 pandemic and maximum telework status. They indicated that they received the necessary IT resources required to perform their duties without adversely affecting their performance. However, many employees want to use their home printers for official GPO business. It is understood that connecting a personal device to a GPO network is a vulnerability, however, there are times when the workforce feels it is necessary, as a result, employees would like GPO to explore at home printing options.

Supervisors and their employees continue to communicate through the use of MS Teams and other platforms with high satisfaction. So much so that GPO employees would like to see increased telework opportunity post-pandemic.

On the surface it appears that a significant amount of employees do not feel safe working onsite. However, after reviewing the survey comments, employees simply felt safer working from home and not having to commute. Respondents were generally satisfied with the GPO-implemented safety protocols; however, GPO should consider the following improvements:

- Continue to reinforce the facemask policy, emphasizing enforcement.
- Provide greater transparency into how GPO sanitizes workspaces.
- Ensure supervisors communicate which tasks are mission essential and require being onsite.
- Improve the location of hand sanitizer stations and ensure they are functional.

APPENDIX 1: Special Project Methodology

Special Projects (SP) are traditionally very specific in nature and are sometimes not listed in the Annual Work Plan. SPs are usually ad-hoc and assigned by the Inspector General. They can often take the form of research projects and do not necessarily need to conform to the CIGIE Quality Standards for Inspection and Evaluation, as was the case here.

The GPO Office of the Inspector General took the following actions for this special project between August 2020 and September 2020:

- Developed questions and created a survey using the Survey Monkey platform.
- Asked respondents to answer yes/no questions and attitudinal scale questions, in addition to giving them the opportunity to provide open ended comments.
- Delivered survey to all GPO employees.
  - Survey was live from August 14-24.
  - Survey respondents remained anonymous.
- Conducted an analysis of the survey results in order to meet the survey objectives.

This project was an addition to the FY 2020 OIG Annual Audit and Inspection Plan.
