Office of Inspector General

Washington, DC 20416

I am pleased to present the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA or the Agency) Office of Inspector General's (OIG) Spring 2015 Semiannual Report to Congress. The report provides a summary of OIG's activities from October 1, 2014 through March 31, 2015. OIG continues to focus on the most critical risks facing SBA. Our resources are directed at key SBA programs and operations, to include financial assistance, Government contracting and business development, financial management and information technology, disaster assistance, Agency management challenges, and security operations.

During this reporting period, OIG issued 9 reports containing 40 recommendations for improving SBA operations and reducing fraud and unnecessary losses in the Agency's programs. In addition, OIG investigations resulted in 27 indictments and 30 convictions. Overall, OIG achieved monetary recoveries and savings of $78.3 million from recommendations that funds be put to better use agreed to by management; disallowed costs agreed to by management; court-ordered and other investigative recoveries, fines, and forfeitures; and loans or contracts not made as a result of investigations and name checks. OIG also sent 33 suspension or debarment referrals to SBA. OIG investigations resulted in 15 additional suspension or debarment referrals at other agencies.

In achieving these results, OIG dedicated its oversight resources toward the principal program areas of SBA. A few noteworthy reviews and investigative outcomes detailed in this report are highlighted below:

- ♦ OIG published its Report on the Most Serious Management and Performance Challenges Facing the Small Business Administration in FY 2015 in October 2014. This report represents our current assessment of Agency programs and/or activities that pose significant risks, including those that are particularly vulnerable to fraud, waste, error, mismanagement, or inefficiencies.
- ♦ OIG issued Audit Report 15-05, SBA's Evaluation of Principal's Repayment Ability for Hurricane Sandy Business Loans. We estimate that SBA approved at least 537 Hurricane Sandy disaster business loans, totaling at least $17.9 million, without sufficiently considering principals' living expenses when determining repayment ability, placing these loans at a higher risk of default.
- ♦ OIG continues to focus investigations against allegations of fraud pertaining to Hurricane Sandy disaster assistance. As part of a multi-agency effort, thus far 16 individuals have been indicted, with 6 of them sentenced to pre-trial diversion. The individuals have been ordered to pay over $185,000 in restitution, with nearly $117,000 in additional restitution prepaid before sentencing.
- ♦ OIG issued Evaluation Report 15-07, Weaknesses Identified During the FY 2014 Federal Information Security Management Act Review. We assessed the Agency's progress in implementing open recommendations and compared our current year assessment with our fiscal year (FY) 2013 Federal Information Security Management Act (FISMA) evaluation. We made six new recommendations to address FISMA-related vulnerabilities.

I would like to thank OIG's employees for their outstanding efforts to promote economy, efficiency, effectiveness, and integrity in SBA programs and operations. We look forward to continuing to work with Administrator Contreras-Sweet and SBA's management to address the issues and challenges facing the Agency.

Overview

The Small Business Administration

The mission of the Small Business Administration (SBA or the Agency) under the Small Business Act, as amended, is to maintain and strengthen the Nation's economy by enabling the establishment and vitality of small businesses and assisting in the economic recovery of communities after disasters. The Agency's strategic plan for fiscal years (FY) 2014-2018 has three overarching goals:

- Growing businesses and creating jobs.
- Serving as the voice for small business.
- Building an agency that meets the needs of today's and tomorrow's small businesses.

SBA has also identified FY 2015 priority goals:

- Getting capital into the hands of more small businesses by building on successful efforts to streamline and simplify SBA's existing lending platforms.
- Promoting inclusive entrepreneurship by providing access and opportunity to promising entrepreneurs nationwide.
- Improving America's entrepreneurial ecosystem with a focus on high-growth entrepreneurship that includes the regional clusters and growth accelerators that support innovation.
- Building capacity and depth in America's small business supply chain (both commercial and Government) to strengthen American manufacturing and exporting and to encourage insourcing.
- Making small businesses more globally competitive through export growth.

SBA is organized around four key functional areas: financial assistance, contracting assistance, technical assistance (e.g., entrepreneurial development), and disaster assistance. The Agency also represents small businesses through an independent advocate and an ombudsman.

SBA's headquarters is in Washington, D.C.—with staff in 10 regional offices, 68 district offices and corresponding branch offices, and 4 disaster field offices—to deliver business products and services. There are also six Government contracting area offices. SBA also maintains a vast network of resource partners in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, American Samoa, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and Guam.

The Office of Inspector General

Pursuant to the Inspector General Act of 1978 (the IG Act), as amended, the Office of Inspector General (OIG) provides independent, objective oversight to improve the integrity, accountability, and performance of SBA and its programs for the benefit of the American people. While SBA's programs are essential to strengthening America's economy, the Agency faces a number of challenges in carrying out its mission. Challenges include fraudulent schemes affecting all SBA programs, significant losses from defaulted loans, procurement flaws that allow large firms to obtain small business awards, excessive improper payments, and outdated legacy information systems.

OIG plays a critical role in addressing these and other challenges by conducting audits to identify wasteful expenditures and program mismanagement; investigating fraud and other wrongdoing; and taking other actions to deter and detect waste, fraud, abuse, and inefficiencies in SBA programs and operations.

OIG's activities also help to ensure that SBA employees, loan applicants, and program participants possess a high level of integrity. This is critical to the proper administration of SBA's programs because it helps ensure that SBA resources are used by those who deserve and need them most. Appendix I contains information regarding audit and other reports issued by OIG during this reporting period. Appendix X contains summaries of investigative actions. Copies of OIG reports and other products are available at http://www.sba.gov/office-of-inspector-general.

Management Challenges

Each year, OIG identifies the most serious management and performance challenges facing SBA. In accordance with the Reports Consolidation Act of 2000 and Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-136, SBA reports this information in its agency financial report. The management challenges represent areas that OIG considers particularly vulnerable to fraud, waste, abuse, or mismanagement, or which otherwise pose significant risk to the Agency, its operations, or its credibility. Each management challenge generally has originated from one or more reports issued by OIG or the Government Accountability Office (GAO).

For each management challenge, OIG provides SBA with recommended remedial actions together with an assessment of Agency progress on each recommended action during the preceding fiscal year. If sufficient progress occurs during the previous fiscal year, OIG assigns a higher color score and the arrow indicator shows upward movement. The following table provides a summary of this year's management challenges. (Report 15-01)

Small Business Access to Capital

SBA provides small businesses with capital and financial assistance through several key programs. Over the years, OIG has worked closely with the Agency to improve SBA's oversight and controls over these programs to ensure that these programs benefit eligible participants most in need of assistance.

For example, SBA has a financial assistance portfolio of guaranteed and direct loans over $106 billion. The Agency's largest lending program, the Section 7 (a) Loan Guaranty Program, is SBA's principal vehicle for providing small businesses with access to credit that cannot be obtained elsewhere. Proceeds from a 7(a) loan may be used to establish a new business, or to assist in acquiring, operating, or expanding an existing business. This program relies on numerous outside parties (e.g., borrowers, loan agents, and lenders) to complete loan transactions, with the majority of loans being made by lenders to whom SBA has delegated loan-making authority. Additionally, SBA has centralized many loan functions and reduced the number of staff performing these functions, placing more responsibility on, and giving greater independence to, its lenders. OIG continues to identify weaknesses in SBA's lender oversight processes.

Diverse Array of Techniques Used to Defraud Loan Programs

Criminals use various methods to fraudulently obtain—or induce others to obtain—SBA-guaranteed loans. These include submitting fraudulent documents, making fictitious asset claims, manipulating property values, using loan proceeds contrary to the terms of the loans, and failing to disclose debts or prior criminal records. Consequently, there is a greater chance of financial loss to the Agency and its lenders. Some of the techniques are described below.

♦ A Minneapolis-area entrepreneur pled guilty in a

U.S. court in Wisconsin to submitting false statements to a financial institution. He had been charged in connection with the 2009 sale of a Wisconsin auto parts and repair business for $1.14 million. To profit from the sale of his failing business, the entrepreneur directed his bookkeeper to make false entries into the business' accounting software. The data manipulation resulted in grossly inflated sales income on corporate financial statements and tax returns, which were provided to the bank and its appraiser to support an inflated business value and a commercial loan application for the buyer. As a result, the bank approved SBA-guaranteed loans of $947,500. Shortly after the sale, most of the false entries were removed in order for the man to file amended tax returns and lower his tax liabilities. The business failed immediately following the sale. The entrepreneur's actions caused a full default and increased losses to the buyer, the bank, and SBA, and forced the buyer to file for bankruptcy. He has made restitution payments totaling $614,496. This is joint investigation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the New Richmond (WI) Police Department.

The former co-owner and president of a New Hampshire-based steel fabricator pled guilty to conspiracy, making false statements, and overvaluing property to influence the actions of a Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)insured financial institution. The company relied on financing from a Vermont savings bank, including $10 million in line-of-credit financing by the end of 2008, and a $2 million SBAguaranteed loan funded in December 2010. The company president admitted to conspiring with others to submit to the bank borrowing base certificates, which contained false information about the value of the work in process, as well as inventory based on false value for change orders on a contract. He also admitted to providing a draft financial statement for FY 2010, which had false information about the value of its inventory. This joint investigation continues in conjunction with FDIC OIG and the FBI.

Falsified Equity Injection Increases Business Loan Risk

A borrower's own financial stake in a business is called equity (or capital) injection. If a borrower personally has something at risk in the business, that person is less likely to default on a loan. When lenders require an injection of such money into projects financed by guaranteed loans, some borrowers try to avoid this obligation by falsifying the amount or source of these injections, as shown by these examples.

The former president of a Georgia banking company was indicted for bank fraud and major fraud against the United States. Between 2005 and 2010, and in conspiracy with others, he allegedly committed bank fraud to obtain money, funds, credits, assets, securities, and other banking company property while replacing non-performing loans with new loans. This included a $1.5 million SBA-guaranteed loan, in which he conspired with others to conceal the borrower's failure to make a required $300,000 equity injection. The loan was for purchasing a failed manufactured home plant that had been the subject of $900,000 in defaulted, non-guaranteed loans. The fraud scheme's purpose was to make the bank appear financially stronger than it was. The actions caused approximately $2.8 million in monetary losses to the bank and SBA. He continued similar illegal activities, even when the bank applied for and received $3.8 million in assistance from the Troubled Asset Relief Program (TARP), a Government initiative to help financial institutions during an economic crisis. This ongoing case is being investigated jointly with FDIC, the Special Inspector General for TARP, the FBI, the Tift County Sheriff's Office, and the U.S. Attorney's office.

A Maryland man pled guilty to bank fraud, money laundering, and aggravated identity theft. He also agreed to pay nearly $1.67 million in restitution and forfeit a home. The investigation revealed that he provided false statements and equity injection proof to obtain a nearly $1.67 million SBA Section 7(a) loan. He had provided a falsified SBA statement of personal history, bank application, and tax returns to a 7(a) lender. He also listed the social security number (SSN) of a deceased victim on the documents. Finally, he provided fabricated bank statements to the lender to prove that he maintained enough assets to provide an equity injection. Review of the actual statements showed that he did not possess the necessary equity injection. After the loan was disbursed, the man converted a portion of the 7(a) loan proceeds to personal use when he purchased cashier's checks to buy a new home in Maryland. He also attempted to file bankruptcy in Maryland using his actual SSN, but falsified bankruptcy documents by failing to list the SBA lender and the 7(a) loan in his bankruptcy filings. This investigation is being worked in conjunction with the Social Security Administration OIG.

Elaborate 7(a) Fraud Scheme Results in $1.6 Million in Restitution

A California man was sentenced to 6.5 years in Federal prison and 5 years of supervised release for his involvement in fraudulently obtaining SBA 7(a) guaranteed loans. He was also ordered to pay $1.6 million in restitution, of which $930,000 will be paid to SBA. He previously pled guilty to mail, bank, and wire fraud. A business associate, who had pled guilty to mail fraud, was sentenced to 6 months of home detention and 3 years of supervised release, and was ordered to pay restitution of $210,000 and to participate in mental health treatment.

The investigation found that the California man orchestrated a scheme in 2006 and 2007 to defraud a financing corporation, which provided a $4.5 million loan to finance the purchase of a gas station. He was unable to obtain the loan himself because of his poor credit rating, history of being sued by creditors, and failure to pay judgments. Accordingly, he created a shell corporation and recruited an unemployed truck driver to act as a "straw buyer" by posing as the owner of the shell corporation and applied for the loan in its name. The man and a co-conspirator included false information in the loan application regarding the straw buyer's experience and assets. In addition, he and a co-conspirator falsely informed the bank that a $600,000 equity down payment had been used for the purchase, when in fact no down payment was made. During this scheme, he worked with his wife, his step-daughter, a business associate, and others.

After obtaining the financing corporation loan, the man coordinated a scheme to defraud a bank. He formed another shell corporation, installed his wife as owner, and had the new shell corporation purchase the gas station. He then had his wife and step-daughter apply to the bank for a loan to refinance the supposed debt that one shell company owed the other, without disclosing that they controlled both companies. The bank was provided with false information about both his wife's credit history and a $600,000 deposit.

The man and his family then used the bank loan proceeds, as well as money siphoned from the gas station, to pay personal expenses, including luxury items. The shell corporations defaulted on the financing corporation and bank loans, causing each financial institution to suffer losses. SBA lost nearly $1 million.

After the man was charged, he, his defense attorney, and his step-daughter engaged in a similar plot to defraud a small business lending firm. The man and his attorney recruited a straw buyer and former attorney to pose as the owner of a new shell corporation and to apply for $4.5 million in loans to finance the purchase of two California gas stations. Similarly, this scheme also involved providing false information regarding the straw buyer's experience and assets and falsely telling the small business lending firm that there were $2.1 million in down payments, while overstating the sale prices of the businesses. The lending firm funded the 7(a) loans. From the loan proceeds, the man and his family received nearly $300,000; the defense attorney received $250,000; and the former attorney received $100,000. Over the next 6 months, the man and his family used the loan proceeds and substantial funds from the gas stations for personal expenses, as they defaulted on the loans from the small business lending firm.

The man's wife, step-daughter, and defense attorney have pled guilty to various charges, and the former attorney is awaiting trial. The small business lending firm is determining additional losses that may be added to the man's restitution. The more recent activities in this investigation were worked jointly with the FBI.

Owner of Missouri Consulting Business Sentenced for Fraud Scheme

The owner of a Missouri financial consulting business was sentenced to 5 years of probation and ordered to pay restitution of over $3.1 million. He had previously pled guilty to conspiracy to defraud the United States. The owner had been a business consultant who assisted struggling businesses to obtain financing and restore business viability. He conspired with a former executive vice president of a bank in order to originate nominee loans to provide funding for such businesses. The owner is one of 17 defendants charged in a complex scheme to defraud SBA. This was a joint investigation with the FBI.

Former Iowa Bank Executive and Others Involved in Fraud

The former senior vice president of an Iowa bank was charged in a superseding indictment with submitting false documents to a bank and aggravated identity theft. In addition, a bank customer pled guilty to bank fraud and aggravated identity theft, and two others pled guilty to bank fraud. Another customer was charged by criminal information for false entry in a bank record.

From March 2003 until March 2010, the customers, with the assistance of the senior vice president, fraudulently acquired loans by filling out applications without the knowledge of the borrowers and by forging their signatures. The proceeds were used for personal expenses, business operating expenses, and to make payments for delinquent loans held by the customers and others at the In connection with a $900,000 SBAguaranteed loan, the senior vice president falsely certified to SBA that the equipment pledged to SBA had no liens or encumbrances when, in fact, he knew that a truck was encumbered on a delinquent loan he had originated for the benefit of one of the customers. This joint investigation is being conducted with FDIC OIG, the Iowa Department of Criminal Investigation, and the FBI.

Two Men Sentenced for Assisting in Fraudulently Obtaining SBA Loans For Themselves and Clients

A Texas court sentenced a man to 6 months in prison, to be followed by 3 years of supervised release, including 6 months of home confinement. The court also ordered him to pay restitution of over $1 million ($854,563 to SBA and $184,144 to a bank) and a $1 million money judgment. He had pled guilty to conspiracy to commit wire fraud.

The court also sentenced a second man to 33 months in prison and 2 years of supervised release. Further, the court ordered him to pay restitution over $1 million ($854,563 to SBA and $184,144 to a bank) and a $1 million money judgment. He had pled guilty to wire fraud and conspiracy to commit wire fraud. The man was not a U.S. citizen and could be deported to Pakistan upon completion of his imprisonment.

Since approximately 2001, the first man has operated a financial services firm and provided loan packaging and brokering services. He estimated that the firm brokered an average of $3 million in loans annually, with around 80 percent of this business involving SBA-guaranteed loans. This estimate placed the total loans processed by the firm at around $36 million.

The first man originally came to OIG's attention because of advertisements, including one for "zero down" SBA loans printed on his company van. The current investigation, which originated in 2009, proved he was helping clients obtain SBA loans by fraudulently creating the appearance they had liquid assets that they did not possess. He submitted false bank statements to SBA lenders as evidence that his clients had sufficient funds to make the required cash injection.

Moreover, in May 2008, he obtained a $990,000 SBA loan to fund his purchase of a hotel. Bank statements used as evidence of cash injection were altered to show a significantly higher account balance. Other statements showed him as the accountholder when the account actually belonged to the second man, the seller of the hotel. The second man secretly funded the first man's full cash injection, attempting to disguise the money as consulting fees and sales commissions. Proceeds paid to the second man from the sale of the hotel ultimately funded portions of the down payment on his residence and the cash injection to satisfy SBA requirements in connection with another hotel purchase. There appeared to be fraudulent statements in these loans as well.

In July 2009, the first man received a second SBA-guaranteed loan for $510,000 for making improvements and additions to the second hotel. The second man again secretly supplied the funds for the first man's cash injection and acted as the general contractor for the construction project, while receiving the proceeds from the second loan. In addition, the two men conspired to get two of the financial services firm's clients approved for approximately $700,000 in SBA loans. While the first man was the loan broker of record, the second man acted as a "hard money lender," providing part of the cash injection in the form of high interest loans.

Washington State Man Guilty of Fraud in Check Kiting Scheme

A Washington State man was found guilty of bank fraud, wire fraud, and conspiracy to commit bank fraud. The total amount of fraud exceeded $1.3 million in credit and approximately $600,000 in actual loss divided disproportionately among three financial institutions.

The legal actions originated from an investigation related to a $50,000 SBA business express loan for the benefit of the man's wife, who operated a computer business. False and fraudulent information was submitted to a credit union to receive the SBA line of credit, which was 50 percent guaranteed by SBA. The investigation immediately uncovered a check kiting scheme targeting multiple financial institutions and the man's involvement in additional credit schemes. Eight collateralized loans from the credit union were uncovered, as well as a loan from a home mortgage lender, an additional new home construction loan originating from the same lender, and multiple credit lines from a bank. All credit was approved via a complex scheme to utilize fraudulent information involving the couple.

Director of Florida Company Ordered to Pay Restitution for Wire Fraud and Identity Theft

The director of a Florida company was ordered to pay $336,914 in restitution to SBA. She previously had been sentenced to 18 months of imprisonment and 3 years of supervised release for wire fraud and aggravated identity theft. Her firm had been a local intermediary company in the SBA Microloan Program. In this program, SBA provides large loans to intermediaries, who in turn provide training and smaller loans of up to $50,000 to small businesses. The director had provided escrow agreements with forged signatures and false bank statements to SBA to induce it to make loans of $200,000 and $550,000 to her firm, of which only $192,500 of the second loan was disbursed. She also falsely indicated that her firm had made 21 local small loans using SBA loan proceeds. However, her company only provided a total of $25,000 to a business owned by her and another controlled by her boyfriend. She also submitted false reconciliation statements and bank statements to SBA to support the other false information. $392,500 disbursed to the intermediary company, about $362,000 was transferred to the bank account of another company controlled by her. She and that company used SBA loan proceeds to purchase an apartment building in Tallahassee, Florida. That apartment complex was seized and sold at auction. She initially objected to the restitution amount, believing the seized building was sold too cheaply and that her restitution should be offset by the building's actual value. This case was investigated jointly with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Criminal Investigation (CI) and Department of Justice.

Attorney Sentenced to 6 Months of Imprisonment for Role in Mortgage Fraud

A Chicago-area real estate attorney was sentenced to 6 months of imprisonment and 1 year of supervised release, and was ordered to pay restitution of $492,303. He had previously pled guilty to wire fraud in connection with residential mortgage fraud schemes involving two Chicago properties transferred in 2009. The attorney had conspired with the seller and a buyer to falsify the buyer's down payment. He prepared a bogus will for a deceased man which purported to leave a $200,000 inheritance for his son, the buyer. The attorney signed the will as the father's attorney and as the executor of the estate. The bogus will was created after the father had died. These documents were forwarded to the lender as evidence of the source of the buyer's down payments. The attorney represented the buyer in these real estate transactions. This is an ongoing joint investigation with the U.S. Postal Inspection Service. It was initiated following a lead provided by OIG's Early Fraud Detection Working Group.

New Jersey Loan Broker Sentenced for Conspiracy to Commit Bank Fraud

A New Jersey loan broker was sentenced to time served and 36 months of probation, and was ordered to pay over $1.1 million in restitution. He previously pled guilty to conspiracy to commit bank fraud. The investigation revealed that an organized group of Korean nationals was obtaining credit cards and loans from lending institutions by using false identities, documents, and business names. The investigation identified 275 loans, totaling approximately $19 million. Each business or individual obtained multiple loans, usually from different institutions. Approximately 85 percent of the loans were SBA express loans, with the majority having defaulted. This broker obtained 28 loans, totaling approximately $1.5 million, for the fictitious businesses, with losses on these loans being approximately $1.1 million. This joint investigation was conducted with the IRS CI, Englewood (NJ) Police Department, and Bergen County Prosecutors Office.

Maryland Man Sentenced to 51 Months in Prison for Conspiracy to Commit Bank Fraud

A Maryland man was sentenced to 51 months in prison, to be followed by 3 years of supervised release, and was ordered to pay restitution of $950,000. He had previously pled guilty to conspiracy to commit bank fraud. The man had created a real estate investment firm, in which he was the majority owner, to buy a liquor store. In May 2006, he and a minority owner of the firm signed agreements to buy the liquor store for $899,000 and related real estate for $400,000.

The man sought a principal of a capital investment company to broker a loan for the store's purchase. They discussed obtaining an SBA loan from a bank. The man disclosed to the broker that he could use a straw buyer for the loan. They agreed that they would falsely represent to the bank that another individual would be the owner and operator of the liquor store. At the September 2006 settlement for the sale of the liquor store to the real estate firm, the straw purchaser falsely represented to the bank that he was the president of the real estate investment firm. The funds needed to close the transaction were provided by the Maryland man, and not the straw purchaser. The bank funded a loan of $950,000.

After the closing, the Maryland man operated the liquor store. In January 2007, he sold a 50 percent stake in the store to another individual for $380,000 and claimed that he owned 100 percent.

In 2007, he stopped making loan payments to the bank, and the loan went into default.

SBA Needs to Improve Its Oversight of Lender Service Providers

In a recent audit report, we found that SBA does not have adequate oversight of its lender service providers (LSPs). LSPs are deeply involved in all phases of the loan life cycle, including originating, closing, servicing, and liquidating SBA business loans. Since the number of LSPs and their agreements with lenders have significantly increased in recent years, SBA will need to improve its internal controls to ensure LSPs' performance and conduct complies with SBA's requirements. We determined that SBA had not established a method to track LSP portfolio activities, and therefore could not adequately assess potential risks associated with LSP involvement in SBA loan programs. In addition, SBA did not adequately investigate a number of potential violations of SBA policy by lenders and LSPs, such as a lack of approved agreements. OIG recommended two actions that will help strengthen SBA's oversight of LSPs and their relationships with SBA lenders. The Agency agreed, and has already taken some steps to improve its oversight. (Audit Report 15-06)

OIG's High Risk 7(a) Loan Review Program Recommends $1.8 Million in Recoveries

OIG's High Risk 7(a) Loan Review Program evaluates lender compliance with SBA's requirements on 7(a) loans approved for $500,000 or more that defaulted within the first 18 months of initial disbursement. Our review of seven early-defaulted loans identified material lender origination and closing deficiencies that justified denial of the guaranty for three loans totaling $1.8 million. To help SBA timely review and recover these payments, we issued three notices of finding and recommendation (NFR) that included detailed descriptions of the identified material deficiencies.

Two of the three loans with material deficiencies financed change of ownership transactions. We have previously identified change of ownership transactions as high-risk. We also identified material lender underwriting deficiencies (i.e. repayment ability) in all three loans. In a previous audit, we determined that SBA's limited reviews of lender underwriting resulted in improper payments. One of these loans was reviewed by both the National Guaranty Purchase Center quality control team during the purchase review process and through SBA's FY 2014 review of improper payments: however, neither method identified the material deficiencies with the loan or associated improper payments. OIG recommended that SBA require the lenders to bring the three loans into compliance and, if not possible, seek recovery of approximately $1.8 million from the lenders. The Agency agreed and is in the process of implementing these recommendations. (Evaluation Report 15 -09)

Disaster Loan Program

The Disaster Loan Program plays a vital role in the aftermath of disasters by providing long-term, low-interest loans to affected homeowners, renters, businesses of all sizes, and non-profit organizations. SBA's disaster financial assistance portfolio is almost $6.8 billion.

There are two primary types of disaster loans: (1) physical disaster loans for permanent rebuilding and replacement of uninsured disaster-damaged privately-owned real and/or personal property, and (2) economic injury disaster loans to provide necessary working capital to small businesses until normal operations resume after a disaster. As part of a massive aid effort from Federal agencies, SBA approves billions of dollars in disaster assistance loans.

More Hurricane Sandy Fraud Uncovered

In response to Hurricane Sandy in 2012, SBA approved $2.4 billion in disaster loans to homeowners, renters, and businesses and disbursed $872 million. Unfortunately, as with any disaster, the need to disburse such loans quickly may have created opportunities for dishonest applicants to commit fraud. As part of a multi-agency effort, thus far, 16 individuals have been indicted, with 6 of them sentenced to pre-trial diversion. The individuals have been ordered to pay over $185,000 in restitution, with nearly $117,000 in additional restitution prepaid before sentencing. The following investigations illustrate the types of crimes associated with the hurricane and were conducted jointly with a task force comprised of the New Jersey State Department of Community Affairs (DCA), the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) OIG, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) OIG, under the direction of the New Jersey Office of the Attorney General.

 A New Jersey woman pled guilty and was sentenced to 1 year of probation after having been charged with theft by deception. She had filed false applications to collect Federal relief funds after Hurricane Sandy and had received $21,128 in Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) grants, for which she made full restitution. The woman had claimed that a storm-damaged house was her primary home, when in fact it was owned by the family of her deceased husband, from whom she had been separated. The house was vacant. As administrator of his estate, she deeded herself a 50 percent interest in the home after receiving the FEMA grants. SBA had declined her SBA home disaster loan application.

- A New Jersey woman entered pretrial intervention after being charged with theft by deception for filing false applications to collect Federal relief funds. She had received a FE-MA grant of $2,270 for rental assistance, for which she has made full restitution. woman also forfeited her employment with the Ocean County Prosecutor's Office. The investigation disclosed that the woman, whose home was damaged in Hurricane Sandy, obtained the FEMA rental assistance by falsifying checks and receipts for two months of rent that she purportedly paid to her daughter to rent a home elsewhere in New Jersey. The woman admitted that she did not use the funds to pay rent. She also received $40,000 from an SBA disaster home loan for her residential property.
- ♦ A New Jersey woman was charged by a complaint-summons with theft by deception and unsworn falsification. She allegedly received $12,270 by filing fraudulent applications for a FEMA grant and for state grants under the Homeowner Resettlement Program (RSP) and Reconstruction, Rehabilitation, Elevation and Mitigation (RREM) Program, which are funded by HUD and administered by the New Jersey State DCA. She received $2,270 in FE-MA rental assistance and a $10,000 RSP grant. The woman claimed that a storm-damaged home she owned in one New Jersey city was her primary residence. However, her actual primary residence allegedly is a home that she owns with a relative in another city. Her application for an SBA disaster home loan was declined in 2013.

- ♦ A New Jersey man was charged by a complaint-summons with theft by deception and unsworn falsification. He had filed an application for FEMA rental assistance, claiming that he was paying $1,415 in monthly rent for an apartment after being displaced from his home following Hurricane Sandy. However, the owner of the apartment allegedly allowed him and his wife to stay rent-free. The man also allegedly submitted fraudulent documents indicating that he paid monthly rent of $1,415. As a result of the alleged fraud, he received $11,320 in Federal rental assistance. He also had applied for an SBA disaster home loan, which was declined in 2013.
- A New Jersey man pled guilty to theft by deception based on previous charges for filing false applications to collect Federal relief funds after Hurricane Sandy. He also prepaid $116,900 in full restitution, of which $31,900 was paid to FEMA and $85,000 to the State of New Jersey. The man had received $31,900 in FEMA grants, a $10,000 RSP grant, and a $75,000 RREM grant. The man had claimed that his primary residence was damaged by the hurricane. However, that house allegedly is a vacation property, and his primary residence is elsewhere. He had applied for an SBA disaster home loan and was declined in 2013 because he indicated that the property was not his primary residence.

The New Jersey Office of the Attorney General filed two separate complaints against a homeowner couple who allegedly submitted false applications to collect Federal relief funds. The man, a Florida resident, was charged by a complaint-summons with theft by deception, and his wife, also a Florida resident, was charged by a complaint-summons with theft by deception and unsworn falsification. They allegedly received $91,900 by filing fraudulent applications. Specifically, they received $31,900 in FEMA grants and a $10,000 RSP grant. Moreover, they were approved for a $129,600 SBA disaster home loan, from which they received $50,000 in proceeds. The couple had claimed that their primary residence in New Jersey was damaged by the hurricane. That house allegedly is a vacation property, and the primary residence is actually in Flori-

Texas Man Indicted for Alleged Role in Hurricane Ike Fraud Scheme

A Texas man was indicted for allegedly participating in a fraud scheme in connection with a major disaster, making a false statement, and making false representations in connection with a major disaster. He had been the president of a registered Texas non-profit corporation and also served as the president or director of several other such corporations. The man allegedly falsified documents to SBA in order to receive over $1.3 million in Hurricane Ike disaster relief funds on behalf of the non -profit corporation from approximately September 2008 to December 2010. Even though SBA disbursed these funds repairing or replacing real estate, inventory, supplies, machinery, and equipment damaged during the disaster, he allegedly used a significant portion of the proceeds for his personal use. This is a joint investigation with the FBI.

Texas Man Fraudulently Received $1.9 million in SBA Loans for Hurricane Humberto and Ike

A Texas man was sentenced to 5 years of probation and restitution of $500,000. He had previously pled guilty to conspiracy to defraud SBA of disaster loan funds. The court cited his serious health issues in following the Government's recommendation for probation. He had owned a bowling alley and had been approved for two disaster loans totaling nearly $1.9 million: one for damages allegedly caused by Hurricane Humberto ($998,500), and the other for Hurricane Ike damages ($885,600).

His former business partner provided information to investigators alleging that the man had committed SBA loan fraud. The former partner stated that after the hurricane, the defendant had received an SBA loan of approximately $1 million to make repairs to the bowling alley. According to the former partner, the man hired him to make repairs on the building, with the two of them agreeing to submit inflated repair cost invoices to SBA. The defendant would write checks for the repair costs indicated on the invoices to the partner. After the partner cashed the checks, he would then give the inflated cash difference back to the man. To conceal the true identity of where the funds were derived, the two men devised contracts in which the partner would act as the defendant's consultant in order to receive consulting fees. They also entered into a bingo lease agreement which indicated the partner would lease the bingo hall portion of the bowling center. These arrangements were made so that the partner could receive monies for consulting fees and purported payments for repairs, while being able to return the monies as lease payments. Investigators' review of bank records confirmed this activity.

The partner also noted that he asked the owner of a subcontractor he utilized for repairs to inflate his price because that was what the defendant wanted. According to the partner, this owner was aware of fraudulent claims to SBA, an assertion that was later verified. The owner stated that many of the repairs were not done as reflected on the invoices and that he did not receive the amounts indicated on several of the invoices. Moreover, he stated that he prepared the invoices on the bowling alley's computer and was instructed by the other two men as to the amounts to place on the invoices. He was also told to indicate that the invoices had been paid so that the defendant would receive his money from SBA. This investigation was conducted jointly with the FBI.

SBA's Evaluation of Principal's Repayment Ability for Hurricane Sandy Business Loans

Our Hurricane Sandy business loan audit focused on the principal's contribution to the loan repayment ability. We found that loan officers did not have guidance for performing the financial analysis to determine whether Hurricane Sandy business loan applicants had repayment ability. Even though SBA's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) state that the repayment ability needs to be based on "the results of the financial analysis performed on the business," the SOP provided no additional guidance regarding how to perform the financial analysis. Because there was no guidance, loan officers used inconsistent methodologies when evaluating Hurricane Sandy business loans for repayment ability. We estimate that SBA approved at least 537 Hurricane Sandy disaster business loans, totaling at least $17.9 million, without sufficiently considering principals' living expenses when determining repayment ability. Therefore, we believe that for these loans, SBA did not have reasonable assurance that the borrowers had repayment ability, and these loans are at a higher risk of default.

OIG recommended that SBA establish and implement clear, written policies and procedures for analyzing the repayment ability of disaster business loan applicants, including business loan principals and guarantors. Additionally, SBA should ensure that these procedures are reviewed and officially approved. The Agency agreed and is in the process of implementing this recommendation. However, management did not agree with our projection that borrowers of at least $17.9 million in Hurricane Sandy disaster business loans did not have repayment ability. (Audit Report 15 -05)

Procurement Assistance

Small Business Development & Contracting Programs

Each year, the Federal Government spends hundreds of billions of dollars to procure goods and services. SBA works to maximize opportunities for small business firms, including firms owned and controlled by women or service-disabled veterans, and small businesses that are disadvantaged or located in historically underutilized business zones (HUBZones). Through SBA Government contracting programs, these small businesses have a better opportunity to obtain Federal contract awards. Working together, SBA establishes annual small business goals with participating Federal agencies for contracting with these small businesses. The current overall Federal Government-wide goal is for small businesses to receive 23 percent of the total value of prime contracts awarded each fiscal year. This includes the specific goals of:

- 5 percent of the total value of prime and subcontract awards to woman-owned small businesses (WOSBs),
- 3 percent of the total value of prime and subcontract awards to service-disabled veteranowned small businesses (SDVOSBs),
- 5 percent of the total value of prime and subcontract awards to small disadvantaged businesses, and
- 3 percent of the total value of prime and subcontract awards to HUBZone firms.

In order to accomplish this goal, SBA has specific programs including, among others, the Section 8(a) Business Development Program and the HUB-Zone Empowerment Contracting Program. The HUBZone Program helps small businesses that are located in economically challenged areas, or HUB-Zones, to stimulate their local economies. Similarly, to help small, disadvantaged businesses gain access to Federal and private procurement markets, SBA's Section 8(a) Business Development Program offers a broad range of business development support, such as mentoring, procurement assistance, business counseling, training, financial assistance, surety bonding, and other management and technical assistance. SBA's programs also reach out to benefit SDVOSBs and WOSBs.

Additionally, SBA provides assistance to existing and prospective small businesses through a variety of counseling and training services offered by partner organizations. Among these partners are small business development centers (SBDCs), the SCORE Association, and women's business centers (WBCs). Most of these are grant programs that require effective and efficient management, outreach, and service delivery.

Companies Misrepresent Eligibility to Gain Contracting Preferences

To gain preferences in obtaining Federal contracts, some businesses falsify their eligibility for programs offered for SDVOSBs, HUBZones, Section 8(a) business development, WOSBs, and Alaska Native corporations. Unfortunately, investigations by OIG and other Federal agencies have identified schemes in which companies owned or controlled by non-disadvantaged persons falsely claim to be disadvantaged firms or use actual disadvantaged firms as fronts. The following cases illustrate the extent of the problem.

♦ A Texas man was indicted for theft of Government money or property and for aggravated identity theft. The indictment also included a notice of intent to seek criminal forfeiture of approximately $2.7 million. The man allegedly created a company and was bidding on and awarded contracts set aside for SDVOSBs. While he was not a veteran, he had stolen and used the identity of his father, who was a service-disabled veteran and in no way affiliated with the company.

- A major Virginia-based energy company agreed to pay more than $2.5 million in fines and penalties for conspiring to defraud the Government by illegally obtaining contracts meant for small disadvantaged businesses. A criminal information was filed, and the company has accepted responsibility for knowingly and willfully conspiring to commit major fraud. As part of a deferred prosecution agreement reached with the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia and the Antitrust Division, the company agreed to pay a fine of $1.56 million and a monetary penalty of over $1 million. According to court documents, the company conspired with a business that was eligible to receive Federal contracts set aside for small disadvantaged businesses with the understanding that the business would illegally subcontract all of the work on the projects to the major energy company. Thus, the major company was able to capture eight contracts worth over $17.71 million. These contracts, awarded in 2010, were focused on making Federal buildings in the Washington, D.C., area more energy-efficient. Under the illegal agreement, the company that was awarded these Government contracts was allowed to keep 5.8 percent of the value of the contracts. This is a joint investigation with the FBI and the General Services Administration (GSA) OIG.
- ◆ The former chief executive officer of a Virginia -based security contracting firm agreed to pay $4.5 million to settle civil claims relating to his involvement in a scheme to create a front company to obtain contracts through the SBA Section 8(a) Program. The settlement resolves civil claims against him relating to his previous guilty plea to major fraud against the Government and conspiracy to commit bribery. The executive, other principals of his firm, and a second security firm falsely repre-

- sented to the Government that the second firm was eligible for the 8(a) Program when in fact it was operated and controlled by the executive's firm. The second firm received over $31 million in 8(a) and small business set-aside contracts. The executive also agreed to pay a DHS employee $50,000 to assist the second firm in obtaining DHS contracts. This case is being jointly investigated with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) OIG, Defense Criminal Investigative Service (DCIS), and DHS OIG.
- A Pennsylvania man was sentenced to 37 months of confinement followed by 3 years of supervised release. He was also ordered to pay $1.2 million in restitution and a $7,500 fine. The man and his company previously agreed to a consent judgment in favor of the United States. The $3.6 million judgment was entered as a result of a False Claims Act complaint against him and his company. The man had previously pled guilty to major fraud against the United States, obstruction of a Federal audit, and making false claims. The plea resulted from an investigation into allegations that he was the actual owner of a small business that purported to be woman-owned, but was actually 85 percent owned and operated by him. He had previously been convicted of a felony and was not eligible to participate in a contracting program. Moreover, the man fraudulently diverted $1.2 million in Government progress payments on Department of Defense contracts to pay outstanding obligations on other contracts or for other business and personal expenses. Finally, he directed two employees of his firm to present false checks to the Defense Contract Audit Agency during a Federal audit. This was a joint investigation with the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command, DCIS, and the U.S. Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI).

A New Jersey firm agreed to pay $1.3 million to settle the case against it under the False Claims Act. OIG originally received a referral from the Government Accountability Office (GAO) FraudNet alleging that an extensive number of SDVOSBs were fraudulently certified in order to obtain Government set-aside contracts. The allegations pertaining to the New Jersey firm state that one man, using another man's service-disabled status, established the company for the sole purpose of obtaining set-aside contracts. The second man allegedly had nothing to do with the business other than in name and is a full-time employee of the State of New Jersey's Military and Veterans Services Department.

Maryland Man Guilty of Conspiracy to Commit Wire Fraud

A Maryland man was found guilty of conspiracy to commit wire fraud. He had owned and operated an SBA 8(a) firm and substantially passed through Federal contracts worth several million dollars to another firm. The investigation continues in conjunction with AFOSI, the Department of Interior (DOI) OIG, and the United States Attorney's Office.

Maryland Woman Uses Fraudulently Obtained 8(a) Program Contract Dollars for Personal Use

A Maryland woman was sentenced to 36 months of probation, to include 30 days of community confinement at a mental health treatment center and 16 months of home confinement. She was also ordered to perform 400 hours of community service and to pay $839,016 in restitution to the IRS. The woman previously pled guilty to conspiracy to defraud the United States after having been indicted for schemes to fraudulently seek Federal contracts under the 8(a) Program.

Her husband had been the president and sole owner of a Maryland corporation. In 1999, he caused a new roofing and construction company to be incorporated in Maryland. Although he installed two individuals to be the nominee owners and officers of the second firm, he exercised complete and undisclosed control over the second firm's business operations. The woman was in charge of the second firm's accounting and acted as the de facto controller for the company. The couple transferred millions of dollars from the second company to bank accounts in their own names, to casinos on their own behalf, to the first firm and another company owned by the husband, and to credit card companies to pay for personal expenses that the couple charged to the second firm's corporate credit cards. These expenses included extensive dental work, veterinary visits for pets, lavish vacations, a cruise, limousine transportation to casinos in Atlantic City, NJ, funeral expenses for a relative, and fencing for their personal residence. She also mischaracterized numerous payments to casinos as subcontractor expenses. Moreover, the woman admitted that she and her husband signed false corporate and personal tax returns for 2005 and 2006. The couple knew that the cost of goods sold and payments to contractors reported on the corporate returns were false because almost all of that money was paid to the couple at casinos. They also knew that the income reported on their personal income taxes omitted hundreds of thousands of dollars that the first firm had paid to them. Consequently, the couple owed additional personal income tax to the IRS totaling $264,105, and the first firm owed an additional $574,911 to the IRS for tax years 2005 and 2006. The total tax loss resulting from the conspiracy to defraud the IRS is $839,016. This case is being jointly investigated with DCIS, GSA OIG, and IRS CI.

Former Army Official Sentenced to 4 Years' Imprisonment for Bribery Scheme

A former U.S. Department of the Army contracting official was sentenced to 4 years in prison for accepting over $490,000 worth of benefits, including cash payments and vacations, from favored contractors. In return, he helped these businesses obtain millions of dollars in Federal contracts. He previously pled guilty to conspiracy to commit bribery and honest services wire fraud, bribery, and attempting to interfere with and impede tax laws. After his prison term, he will be placed on 3 years of supervised release. He also must pay restitution, including $250,000 to the Department of Defense and nearly $125,000 to the IRS. Finally, he must pay a forfeiture money judgment of $490,262.

The official was among 18 individuals and 1 corporation to plead guilty to Federal charges in an investigation that uncovered the largest domestic bribery and bid-rigging scheme in the history of Federal contracting cases. Participants in the scheme stole over $30 million in Government money through inflated and fictitious invoices. This was a joint investigation with the FBI, IRS CI, DCIS, Defense Contract Audit Agency, and U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command. The U.S. Marshals Service provided assistance on the forfeiture matter.

Virginia Man Pleads Guilty to Conspiracy to Commit Wire Fraud

A Virginia man pled guilty to conspiracy to commit wire fraud. A Maryland man who owned and operated an SBA 8(a) firm substantially passed through several million dollars' worth of Federal contracts to the Virginia man's company. The investigation continues in conjunction with AFOSI, DOI OIG, and the U.S. Attorney's Office.

Maryland Company Agrees to Pay $2.15 Million for $10 Million Scheme

A Maryland construction company entered into a non-prosecution agreement (NPA) with the United States. It agreed in part to accept responsibility for its conduct, continue its cooperation with the Government's investigation, and pay $2.15 million to the U.S. Treasury.

The NPA resulted from an investigation into allegations that the Maryland company and a Virginia firm provided false joint venture information to win a contract worth over $10 million. The Maryland company misused certified business enterprise firms to obtain preference points on District of Columbia construction projects. It entered into a joint venture with the Virginia firm on an 8(a) contract for the National Institutes of Health (NIH) building. In 2009, SBA and NIH jointly awarded this $10 million construction contract to the two firms' joint venture after both companies allegedly provided false past performance information on their bid submission to NIH and submitted a fraudulent joint venture agreement to SBA. The joint venture agreement indicated that the Virginia firm (the 8(a) company) would be the 51 percent partner in the joint venture and would provide the project manager for the construction project. Neither of those things happened. In addition, the firms entered into an oral agreement that the Maryland company would manage approximately 85 percent of the project, while the Virginia firm would only be responsible for 15 percent. The two firms' actions violated SBA regulations governing joint venture and 8(a) setaside contracts. This investigation was worked with the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia, the District of Columbia OIG, and the

Three Companies Reach Settlement for Fraudulent Activity on $1 Billion Contract

Three related companies collectively entered into a civil settlement with the United States. The companies agreed to pay $2.5 million to the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia. In addition, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) will withhold payments due to the companies totaling $11.2 million. The companies will withdraw any appeals seeking the return of the funds and relinquish all rights to any payments that have been withheld.

From 2005 to 2011, the technology firm of the three companies held a $1 billion prime contract with USACE. Between September 2007 and October 2011, the firm's then-director of contracts accepted kickbacks from several subcontractors of the technology firm and another related company in return for using his position to direct subcontracts to them. The two firms submitted invoices to USACE that included charges for work that subcontractors never performed. In 2012, the director of contracts pled guilty to bribery and kickback charges. USACE stopped payments to the two firms. This was a joint investigation with the Department of Justice, U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia, DCIS, and the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command.

Virginia Firm Agrees to Pay $540,000 in SDVOSB Settlement

A Virginia company and the U.S. Attorney's Office executed a settlement agreement related to civil claims arising from the firm's representation that it was an SDVOSB. The firm agreed to pay $540,000 to settle the claims. OIG originally received a complaint alleging that the company was falsely claiming its SDVOSB status. The firm provides management consulting services for program management, administrative support, information technology, Federal acquisitions, Federal grants, finance, and accounting. It had received an indefinite delivery contract for nearly $6.4 million from the Department of the Army that was set aside for an SDVOSB. The director had been suspected of misrepresenting the firm's SDVOSB status and receiving set-aside contracts under fraudulent pretenses. The case is a joint investigation with the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command.

Texas Man Misrepresented SDVOSB Status to Receive Contract

A Texas man was sentenced to 12 months of confinement and 36 months of supervised release, and was ordered to pay restitution of nearly $1.5 million for wire fraud. This case was based on a referral from GAO, in which its FraudNet received an anonymous letter alleging that a firm was falsifying documents to establish its status as an SDVOSB and architectural and engineering firm. The company reportedly falsified the credentials of its engineers, the office locations, the number of employees, and its past projects.

The investigation determined that the firm's owner did not have a U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) disability rating or service-connected disability. Thus, his firm was not a legitimate SDVOSB. Moreover, the firm had submitted architectengineer qualifications documentation to the VA Contracting Office in San Antonio, TX, which included example projects that the company did not actually work on. At least three of the firm's "key personnel" contained in its documentation had never worked with, or even heard of, the man or his firm. The man confessed to these findings during an OIG interview. The firm was awarded an SDVOSB contract and 10 task orders under that contract.

Former Owner of Virginia Company Pays $300,000 in Settlement

The former owner of a Virginia security company agreed to pay $300,000 to settle civil claims arising from a scheme to establish her firm as a front company. The firm obtained more than $31 million in contract payments intended for 8(a) disadvantaged small businesses. In 2013, she was sentenced to 48 months of incarceration followed by 36 months of supervised release. She was also ordered to pay a $1 million fine and over $1.2 million in forfeiture. The owner previously pled guilty to major fraud against the Government. She and the principals of a second firm falsely represented to the Government that her firm was eligible for the 8(a) Program. In fact, her company was operated and controlled by the second firm. This case is being jointly investigated with NASA OIG, DCIS, and DHS OIG.

Florida Company Agrees to Pay $1.1 Million for Alleged Contract Fraud

A settlement was executed in a civil case between a large Florida building company and the U.S. Attorney's Office in which the company agreed to pay the U.S. Government $1.1 million. The civil suit was based on an allegation that a firm acted as a "front" for another large company owned by the Florida building company. The "front" firm allegedly obtained Government contracts set aside for SDVOSBs for which it was not eligible. Moreover, the two large companies conducted the majority of the contract work. This investigation was conducted jointly with the Department of Justice and DHS OIG.

Nebraska Man Sentenced to 2 Years of Probation and Forfeiture of $3.35 Million

A Nebraska man was sentenced in a U.S. District Court in Iowa to 2 years of probation, 180 days in a residential reentry program (halfway house), and forfeiture of all interest in over $3.35 million seized by the U.S. Government and determined to be profits from fraud. In addition, his paving corporation was sentenced to 2 years of probation after having previously pled guilty to money laundering. His business partner's contracting firm was sentenced to 2 years of probation. Per a plea agreement, the Government agreed to dismiss all charges against the partner, a service-disabled veteran (SDV) utilized by the Nebraska man to perpetrate the scheme.

The Nebraska man had previously pled guilty to major program fraud, and his corporation had pled guilty to money laundering in furtherance of a contracting fraud scheme. His admissions of guilt followed a guilty plea entered by his business partner's contracting firm to major program fraud and wire fraud. In 2013, a Federal grand jury in Iowa had indicted the two men and their companies in connection with a $23.5 million SDVOSB fraud scheme.

The investigation showed that, from May 2007 through August 2010, the contracting firm unlawfully received 45 set-aside and sole-source SDVOSB contracts from the VA and the Department of Defense, including contracts involving American Recovery and Reinvestment Act funds. The contracting firm was a pass-through and front company for the Nebraska man's other businesses, such as the paving corporation. His business partner was simply a figurehead used for his SDV status. This was a joint investigation with GSA OIG, VA OIG, FDIC OIG, and DCIS.

President of Colorado Firm Pleads Guilty to Conspiracy

The owner and president of a Colorado firm pled guilty to conspiracy. The plea was based on his previous indictment for making false statements to SBA, conspiracy, and filing false tax returns. The investigation discovered that he had directed his accountant and the company's controller to conceal millions of dollars in assets, including a condominium in Vail, Colorado. He also diverted millions of dollars in unreported income, mostly through overseas accounts. This action was omitted from SBA annual updates and financial statements. In doing so, he maintained the firm's certification as an 8(a) disadvantaged business. Finally, he concealed the assets and income from the IRS by filing false tax returns. The misrepresentations led to the wrongful award of over $17 million in 8(a) set-aside contracts to the firm from 2006 to 2010. This is a joint investigation with DCIS, IRS CI, GSA OIG, and U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command. This matter was referred by GSA OIG.

SBA Suspends Massachusetts HUBZone Firm and Owner

SBA suspended a Massachusetts HUBZone firm and its sole owner, thus prohibiting the company from being awarded any new Government procurements. SBA's decision was based on information OIG had previously provided, which disclosed that the firm operated primarily from its non-HUBZone office location. The suspension barred the company from receiving two GSA indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity (IDIQ) procurements scheduled to be awarded in April 2015. The firm had been expected to win both awards. The first IDIQ procurement had a maximum value of $20 million and the second had a maximum value of $15 million. Consequently, the firm's suspension resulted in a cost avoidance of $35 million. This investigation is being worked jointly with GSA OIG and is based on its referral alleging fraudulent behavior by the company.

Agency Management

OIG is responsible for ensuring that Agency management appropriately safeguards SBA from fraud, waste, and abuse, and that SBA activities directly further Agency goals. As part of these efforts, OIG works with the Offices of the Chief Financial Officer (CFO), the Chief Information Officer (CIO), and Management and Administration to review financial reporting and performance management, human resources, procurements and grants, space and facilities, and maintenance of SBA's information systems and related security controls.

Weaknesses Identified During the FY 2014 Federal Information Security Management Act Review

The Federal Information Security Management Act (FISMA) requires that OIG review SBA's information technology security program. To determine SBA's compliance with FISMA, OIG contracted with an independent public accountant, KPMG, to perform review procedures relating to FISMA. OIG monitored KPMG's work and reported SBA's compliance with FISMA in the Agency FISMA filings in November 2014. We also assessed the Agency's progress in implementing open recommendations and compared our current year assessment with our FY 2013 FISMA evaluation. In addition to 32 open FISMA recommendations, OIG made 6 new recommendations to address FISMA-related vulnerabilities. SBA fully agreed with all six recommendations, and projected they would be implemented by February 2017. (Evaluation Report 15-07)

SBA's FY 2014 Financial Statements Audit Found Four Areas of Concern

OIG contracted again with KPMG to audit SBA's FY 2014 financial statements. In a management letter, KPMG noted four matters involving internal controls and other operational matters: (1) improvement needed in the timely issuance of safety and soundness examination reports, (2) inadequate controls over 1502 reporting for the 7(a) Guaranty Loan

Program, (3) untimely 7(a) charge-off reviews and processing, and (4) inadequate reviews of STAR time and attendance reports. (Audit Report 15-04)

SBA's FY 2014 Special-Purpose Financial Statements Accurately Present the Agency's Financial Position

In another KPMG contracted audit, the independent auditor reviewed SBA's reclassified balance sheet as of September 2014 and 2013, and the reclassified statements, or special-purpose financial statements, which covered net costs and changes in net position for FY 2014. KPMG reported that the statements present SBA's financial position for FY 2013 and 2014 fairly in all material respects, the results of operations and the changes in net position for the period are in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, and the presentation is in conformance with the requirements of TFM 2-4700. (Audit Report 15-03)

SBA's FY 2014 Financial Statements Show a Significant IT Security Deficiency

Independent auditor KPMG also reviewed SBA's consolidated financial statements for FY 2014, fulfilling an annual requirement of the Chief Financial Officers Act of 1990, and was conducted in accordance with the generally accepted government auditing standards; the Office of Management and Budget Bulletin No. 14-02, Audit Requirements for Federal Financial Statements; and GAO's financial audit manual and Federal information system controls audit manual.

KPMG reported that:

- The financial statements were fairly presented in all material aspects in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.
- There were no material weaknesses in internal control.

- There is a significant deficiency related to SBA's information technology security controls, which has been identified in the past.
- ♦ There is one instance of noncompliance with laws and regulations related to the Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996, which also has been reported in the past. (Audit Report 15-02)

SBA Appropriately Handled FY 2014 and 2015 Cash Gifts

OIG determined whether SBA had adequate controls over soliciting, accepting, holding, and using cash gifts. SBA has gift authority under sections 4 (g), 8(b)(1)(G), 5(b)(9) and 7(k)(2) of the Small Business Act. Employees may solicit and accept gifts on behalf of SBA after proper approvals, including a conflict of interest determination by SBA's Office of General Counsel. Section 4(g)(2) of the Small Business Act provides that any cash gift, devise, or bequest accepted by the Administrator shall be held in a separate account and shall be subject to semiannual audits by the Inspector General who shall report his or her findings to Congress. Overall, our evaluation found that SBA complied with the Act regarding the solicitation, acceptance, holding, and utilization of cash gifts. We made no recommendations. (Evaluation Report 15-08)

Cosponsorships and Fee-Based Administration-Sponsored Events

According to Section 4(h) of the Small Business Act, as amended, OIG must semiannually report to Congress how it uses its authority in connection with cosponsorships and fee-based Administration -sponsored events. SBA's Office of Strategic Alliances provided OIG with information related to cosponsorships, including the names, dates, and locations of the sponsored events and the names of the cosponsors. This information was not verified by OIG. As shown in Appendix IX, between October 1, 2014 and March 31, 2015, the Administrator—through her approved designees—fully executed 102 cosponsorship agreements.

Other Significant Activities

Character Screening Reduces Potential Program Fraud

Participants in SBA programs involving business loans, disaster assistance loans, Section 8(a) certifications, surety bond guarantees, small business investment companies (SBICs), and certified development companies (CDCs) must meet Agency character standards. To help ensure that this occurs, OIG's Office of Security Operations utilizes name checks and, where appropriate, fingerprint checks to determine criminal background information. During this reporting period, OIG processed 1,779 external name check requests for these programs.

OIG also refers applicants who appear ineligible because of character issues to program officials for adjudication. The referrals are based on data from OIG's on-line connection with the FBI. As a result of OIG referrals during this reporting period, SBA Business Loan Program managers declined 8 applications totaling nearly $4.5 million, and Disaster Loan Program officials declined 18 applications totaling nearly $600,000. In addition, the Section 8 (a) Program declined nine applications for admission and the Surety Bond Guaranty Program declined one application for admission.

During this reporting period, OIG also initiated 169 background investigations and issued 11 security clearances for Agency employees and contractors. OIG also adjudicated 48 background investigative reports and coordinated with SBA's Office of Disaster Assistance to adjudicate 31 derogatory background investigation reports. Finally, OIG processed 2,008 internal name check requests for Agency activities such as success stories, Small Business Person of the Year nominees, and disaster assistance new hires.

OIG Promotes Debarment and Other Administrative Enforcement Actions

As a complement to its criminal and civil fraud investigations, SBA OIG continually promotes suspensions, debarments, and other administrative enforcement actions. These actions protect taxpayer funds from parties who have engaged in fraud or have otherwise exhibited a lack of business integrity. OIG regularly identifies individuals and entities for debarment and other enforcement actions, and submits comprehensive referrals that generally include a summary of allegations, suggested administrative records with supporting evidence, and a draft notice to facilitate review by the responsible SBA suspension and debarment official. Most OIG administrative referrals involve abuse of SBA loan and preferential contracting programs. Where appropriate, OIG recommends that SBA suspend the subject of an ongoing OIG investigation given program risk presented by the continued participation of those parties in Government programs.

During this reporting period, OIG sent 33 suspension and debarment referrals to the Agency. OIG investigations resulted in 15 additional suspension or debarment actions at other agencies. (See the Statistical Highlights section of this report for additional suspension and debarment results.)

The following provides examples of OIG referrals for administrative enforcement actions during this reporting period:

Individual Falsely Representing Control of an 8(a) Business Development Program Participant Referred for Debarment after Conviction

SBA admitted a company into the 8(a) Business Development Program in reliance upon several representations of program eligibility. Among other things, an individual, who was a member of a disadvantaged group eligible for 8(a) Business Development Program participation, falsely claimed responsibility for the day-to-day management and long-term decision making of the company when a non-disadvantaged individual was actually in charge of the day-to-day management and long-term decision making. The parties involved in making or supporting these misrepresentations to SBA were referred for debarment after criminal convictions.

Business Owner and Business Referred for Debarment for Failing to Disclose Lawsuits on Loan Application

OIG referred the owner of a business, the business itself, and several affiliated companies for debarment based on false statements the owner made when applying for a Section 504 loan. SBA Form 1244, the application for a Section 504 loan, requires companies seeking a loan to disclose whether the business, or certain individuals affiliated with the business, are involved in any pending lawsuits. The owner referred for debarment falsely certified no lawsuits were pending when, in fact, the owner was a defendant in three suits, and a plaintiff in a fourth. Documents from the court files of cases involving the business owner as a defendant indicate the owner received service of process in each of those three suits, and was engaged in defending against those actions. Further, the business owner submitted a notarized affidavit in connection with the suit in which the owner was a plaintiff.

Business Owner and Business Referred for Debarment for Falsely Certifying WOSB Program Eligibility after SBA Review Found Otherwise

SBA found a business ineligible for participation in the WOSB Program after reviewing the company. The decision letter explicitly instructed the business to remove its WOSB designation from the System for Award Management (SAM) within 5 days, and further, warned the business that failure to change its WOSB status would result in an Inspector General referral. Notwithstanding this warning, the company continued to represent itself in SAM as a WOSB. The business also made an affirmative certification of program eligibility in a Federal Acquisition Regulation report. SBA had not recertified the company as a WOSB prior to these representations. The business owner was the individual who both received SBA's decision letter and made the program eligibility representations at issue.

Debarment Referral of Businesses and Owner Following Conviction for Failing to Disclose Delinquent Debt in Loan Applications

An OIG investigation supported the conviction of a business owner who failed to disclose the existence and delinquency of debt when applying for two loans under the 7(a) Loan Program, and one loan under the 504 Loan Program. SBA had to pay for losses on all three loans. After the conviction, OIG referred the owner and companies for debarment. OIG previously referred these parties for suspension while the criminal case was ongoing.

OIG Continues Leadership Role in CIGIE Project to Promote Use of the Program Fraud Civil Remedies Act

OIG continues to head a project that Council of Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency (CIGIE) established in November 2012 to promote Government-wide use of the Program Fraud Civil Remedies Act (PFCRA). The PFCRA allows agencies to seek double damages for false claims of up to $150,000 administratively rather than initiating a case in Federal court. A 2012 GAO report based upon a survey of OIGs found that many Federal agencies were making limited or no use of the PFCRA. As previously reported, OIG hosted a PFCRA Working Group with representatives from multiple OIGs to examine the issue and develop solutions to expand use of the statute.

During this reporting period, SBA OIG representatives, along with other members of the working group, delivered a half-day workshop on making PFCRA referrals. Approximately 110 Federal employees attended the workshop, representing 44 different agency components and Inspectors General. Attendees were a mix of Inspector General attorneys, agency attorneys, criminal investigators, and auditors. This training emphasizes the practical aspects of creating a PFCRA and walked participants through the creation of the referral documents necessary for a PFCRA case.

OIG Reviews of Proposed Agency Regulations, Operating Procedures, and Other Initiatives Lead to Improved Program Controls to Reduce Fraud, Waste, Abuse, and Inefficiencies

As part of OIG's proactive efforts to promote accountability and integrity and reduce inefficiencies in SBA programs and operations, OIG reviews changes that SBA proposes to make to its program directives such as regulations, internal operating procedures, agency policy notices, and SBA forms that are completed by the public. OIG often identifies material weaknesses in the proposals and works with the Agency to implement recommended revisions to promote more effective controls and deter waste, fraud, or abuse. During the reporting period, OIG reviewed 66 proposed revisions of these program directives and submitted comments designed to improve 36 of these initiatives.

For example, during this reporting period, OIG commented on disaster loan procedures, the WOSB Program, the subcontracting program, and a workplace conflict resolution center. These comments drew upon OIG's audit and investigatory experience with SBA and its programs. Changes implemented based on OIG comments will enhance the Agency's program and operations integrity and efficiency.

2004 Legislation Requires SBA Regulations and OIG Approval of SBDC Surveys

In December 2004, Congress amended section 21(a) (7) of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 648(a)(7)) to restrict disclosing information regarding individuals or small businesses that have received assistance from an SBDC and to limit the Agency's use of such information. The provision also required SBA to issue regulations regarding disclosures of such information for use in conducting financial audits or SBDC client surveys. In 2009, the Agency represented to OIG that it would issue regulations as required by the statute. In April of 2014, SBA sent the proposed regulations for publication in the Federal Register for public comment.

In addition, section 21(a)(7) of the Small Business Act states that, until these SBDC information disclosure regulations are issued, the Inspector General shall approve any SBDC client survey and the use of such information, and shall include such approval in OIG's Semiannual Report to Congress. According to a report from the Agency, SBA did not submit any surveys of SBDC clients for review during the first half of FY 2015.

OIG Hotline

OIG's Hotline reviews allegations of waste, fraud, abuse, or serious mismanagement within SBA or its programs from employees, contractors, and the public. During the first half of FY 2015, the Hotline received 278 complaints requiring additional analysis or referral, and closed 174 complaints. A preliminary review of all complaints is conducted to determine the appropriate course of action. As part of the review process, Hotline staff may coordinate reviews of allegations with Investigations, OIG Counsel, Auditing, and SBA program offices. Outcomes of investigations initiated as a result of Hotline complaints are monitored by Hotline staff.

Of the 174 complaints closed this period, 53 (31 percent) were referred within OIG (Investigations, Audit Counsel), 49 (28 percent) were referred to SBA program offices, and 4 (2 percent) were referred to outside Agencies. The remaining complaints, 68 (39 percent), were resolved by the Hotline or did not require referral.

Whistleblower Ombudsman

Federal law prohibits Government personnel from retaliating against an employee who acts as a whistleblower by reporting suspected waste, fraud, or abuse to OIG. In addition, the National Defense Authorization Act of 2013 extends whistleblower protections to Government contractors, subcontractors and grantees. Protected whistleblowing is defined as disclosing information which the discloser reasonably believes evidences:

- gross mismanagement,
- gross waste of funds,
- an abuse of authority,
- a substantial and specific danger to public health or safety, or

• a violation of law, rule, or regulation.

In accordance with the Administration's second Open Government National Action Plan, the whistleblower ombudsman coordinated a strategy to meet the requirements of the Office of Special Counsel 2302(c) Certification Program and submitted the request for certification during this reporting period. Requirements included placing information posters at Agency facilities, providing information about the Whistleblower Protection Act (WPA) and the Whistleblower Protection Enhancement Act (WPEA) to new employees as part of the orientation process, providing information to current employees and training supervisors on the WPA/WPEA, and displaying a link to the Office of Special Counsel's website on the Agency's website or intranet.

Comprehensive information on whistleblower protection may be found on OIG's website at http://www.sba.gov/office-of-inspector-general/23914. The whistleblower ombudsman may be contacted at OIGOmbudsman@sba.gov.

From Prior Reporting Periods Without Final Action as of March 31, 2015

Report Number	Date Issued	Recommendation	Date of Management Decision	Final Action Target Date
ROM 11-04	3/22/2011	We recommend the Chief Financial Officer research the $21,627,140 in Appendix I to determine whether the award has been made or the funds should be deobligated. This research should result in these actions being posted to FPDS.gov.	10/6/2011	6/30/2012
ROM 11-04	3/22/2011	We recommend the Chief Financial Officer deploy an independent statistical verification and validation of all SBA transactions awarded and subsequently reported to FPDS.gov.	10/6/2011	6/30/2012
ROM 11-04	3/22/2011	We recommend the Chief Financial Officer research the $695,157 in Appendix II to determine the disposition of these awards and whether Recovery Act obligations were actually used to fund the awards. If not, these awards need to be corrected in PRISM, FPDS.gov, and the contract files.	10/6/2011	1/31/2012
ROM 11-04	3/22/2011	We recommend the Chief Financial Officer fully develop and implement a data quality plan that documents processes to ensure timely, accurate, and complete submission of contracts data to USASpending.gov.	10/6/2011	6/30/2012

Appendix XI: External Peer Reviews

Section 5(a) of the IG Act provides the requirements for reporting the results of peer reviews in OIG Semiannual Reports to Congress. The following information is provided in accordance with these requirements.

Auditing

Generally accepted government auditing standards (GAGAS) issued by GAO require that audit organizations performing audits and attestation engagements in accordance with GAGAS must have an external peer review performed by independent reviewers at least once every 3 years.

OIG did not have a peer review conducted during this semiannual reporting period. OIG's last peer review was conducted by NASA OIG, which issued its final report on September 27, 2012. OIG received a rating of "pass" in that report (from possible ratings of "pass," "pass with deficiencies," or "fail"). There are no outstanding recommendations from previous peer reviews of OIG.

Peer Reviews Conducted

OIG conducted a peer review of the Railroad Retirement Board OIG in the Fall 2012 reporting period. On October 18, 2012, OIG issued its final report. The Railroad Retirement Board OIG received a rating of "pass" in that report.

Investigations

Section 6(e)(7) of the IG Act, Attorney General Guidelines for OIGs with Statutory Law Enforcement Authority, and the CIGIE Quality Standards for Investigations require external peer reviews of OIG investigative functions be conducted every 3 years.

OIG received its review in September 2014, which was conducted by the US Department of the Interior, Office of Inspector General. The final report, dated November 13, 2014, found the system of internal safeguards and management procedure for the investigative function of SBA OIG to be in compliance with the quality standards established by CIGIE and the applicable Attorney General Guidelines (OIGs can be assessed as either "compliant" or "noncompliant"). No recommendations were offered.

Peer Reviews Conducted

OIG conducted a peer review of GSA OIG in May of 2013. On July 26, 2013, OIG issued its final report. OIG found the system of internal safeguards and management procedures for the investigative function of OIG compliant with the quality standards established by CIGIE and the applicable Attorney General Guidelines. No recommendations were offered.

Appendix XII: OIG Organization

OIG is comprised of the Inspector General's immediate office and four divisions: Auditing, Investigations, Counsel, and Management and Policy.

The Auditing Division performs and oversees audits and reviews to promote the economical, efficient, and effective administration of SBA programs and operations.

The Investigations Division manages a program to detect and deter illegal and improper activities involving SBA programs, operations, and personnel. The criminal investigations staff carries out a full range of traditional law enforcement functions. The security operations staff ensures that SBA employees and contractors have appropriate background investigations and security clearances to achieve a high level of integrity in the Agency's workforce, and that loan applicants and other potential program participants are of good character.

The Counsel Division provides legal and ethics advice to all OIG components; represents OIG in litigation arising out of or affecting OIG operations; assists with the prosecution of criminal, civil fraud, and administrative enforcement matters; processes subpoenas, responds to Freedom of Information and Privacy Act requests; and reviews and comments on proposed policies, regulations, legislation, and procedures.

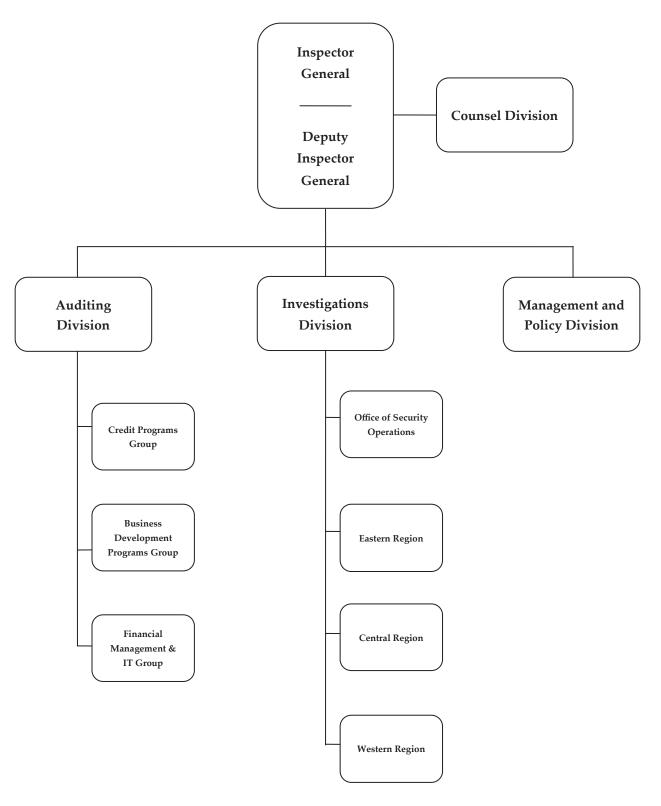

The Management and Policy Division provides business support (e.g., budget and financial management, human resources, IT, and procurement) for the various OIG functions; coordinates preparation of OIG's Semiannual Report to Congress, and other OIG-wide reports and documents; maintains OIG's website; and operates OIG's Hotline.

OIG headquarters is located in Washington, DC; and has field staff located in Atlanta, GA; Chicago, IL; Dallas-Fort Worth, TX; Detroit, MI; Denver, CO; Herndon, VA; Houston, TX; Kansas City, MO; Los Angeles, CA; Miami, FL; New York, NY; Philadelphia, PA; Tacoma, WA; and Washington, DC.
